Degree Tracker Digest

A publication by the Emory Office of the University Registrar

Jan. 2021

2020 Degree Tracker Highlights

♦ October 2020 - Marked Degree Tracker’s 2 year anniversary since initial launch.

♦ Fall 2020 - Degree Tracker rolled out to certain programs in Public Health, Graduate Nursing & School of Theology.

♦ Necessary customizations resulting from the pandemic and academic flexibilities / exemptions were implemented.

♦ A significant number of staff, faculty and students signed up and attended 12 training sessions conducted in fall.

♦ Nearly 450 Degree Tracker support tickets resolved.

Emory University
Office of the Registrar
registrar.emory.edu

---

The right tool for the current challenge

If anything can be said about the year that has passed, ‘different, difficult...’ is just the beginning to describe it. Yet, our academic community acclimated to the new norm in no time and met the challenges with the level of flexibility and creativity needed in these times. The Office of the University Registrar / Degree Tracker’s team efforts throughout the past year also align with this trend.

From initiating new projects with various schools, to the follow up needed in each phase, the team was able to successfully implement Degree Tracker to additional areas and departments and engage the appropriate stakeholders virtually every step of the way.

Accordingly, most schools are now using Degree Tracker at various levels with the exception of School of Law and School of Medicine that we plan to onboard in the near future. Certain programs in Graduate Nursing and Candler School of Theology are areas the tool was most recently implemented. The convenience of tracking students’ degree progress just with a few clicks is thus reaching more schools making Degree Tracker the right tool especially in this time of social distancing!

Towards the end of last fall, a new feature that allows undergraduate students to select their own area depths within the BBA program is also introduced for the School of Business. Along with it, the ability for administrators to run and customize Degree Tracker data using a Dashboard was also implemented that is set to be expanded to additional schools.

Happy New Year

As we track the years and welcome 2021, the Degree Tracker team would like to wish the entire academic community a very Happy New Year! We also encourage you to utilize all aspects of Degree Tracker as you advise and review students’ reports for course planning, major selection, graduation screening and additional academic tracking needs.

Upcoming Degree Tracker Training

Click Here: to sign up for spring Degree Tracker training sessions or scan the QR code.

Degree Tracker Tip:

What-if report is not only useful to help students explore majors/minors but it is also a way to view reports for inactive and/or readmit students for upcoming semesters.

Let us know how we are doing - Complete a brief survey via: http://bit.ly/Emory-DT_Survey

Resources and Training

Find Resources on the Web. Contact us by email: degreetrackerhelp@listserv.cc.emory.edu.

Email us with one-on-one / group training session request with your department at your convenience.